I certify that the information contained in this application is correct to the best of my knowledge. In consideration for my employment, I hereby swear to be enthusiastic about repeatedly using Brandon Grotesque, Googling my way through anything, and digitally frankensteining precious family photos. I, the applicant, certify that when a piece I toiled over gets two (2) seconds of screen time in a blurry background, my love for this career will remain unaffected. Any and all visual relation to historical documentation is not entirely coincidental and is intended as flattery for those who designed super cool old stuff.
